Save 3, Lose 1 as Fishing Boats Capsize

Kenneth Olin, 23, Chicago, Loses Life in Channel Lake Sunday

To the alertness of Sam Smith, caretaker at the C. K. Anderson estate, and the prompt and heroic efforts of members of the Antioch rescue squad is given much of the credit for saving the lives of three of four fishermen whose boats capsized in the rough waves of Channel lake Sunday morning.

By a heart-breaking narrow margin, the squad failed to save the life of the fourth fisherman, Kenneth E. Olin, 23, of 3829 Fremont avenue, Chicago. Olin drowned after James McMillen of the squad had succeeded, at the risk of his own life, in getting a life preserver to him and had begun towing him in to shore by means of a rope fastened to the life preserver. He is believed either to have suffered a cramp or become numb after long exposure in the icy water and to have loosened his hold on the life preserver, or to have become confused and started swimming away from McMillen.

Because of the intensity with which the spray was being driven into his face (the waves were estimated to be running from six to eight feet high in the lake, and breaking into spray from 12 to 20 feet high along the sea wall), McMillen had gone some distance before he knew Olin had slipped under the surface. McMillen himself had difficulty reaching a point where his rescue squad companions could aid him to shore.

He and the three rescued men were taken to the C. K. Anderson home, where Mr. and Mrs. Anderson gave all possible assistance to the rescue squad and to Dr. D. N. Deering, who had been summoned to the scene, in (continued on page 5)

Otto S. Klass is Re-Elected Head of Antioch Civic Club

McArthur, Bird Migration Authority, Speaks at Meeting

All officers of the Antioch Men's Civic club, including Otto S. Klass, president; Russell Barnstable, vice-president; Edward Strang, treasurer, and R. E. Clabaugh, secretary, were unanimously re-elected for another year at a meeting Monday evening in St. Ignatius' Guild hall.

Harold E. McArthur, Waukegan, who has devoted years of study to bird migrations and the practice of bird banding for such study, was the speaker of the evening.

Pictures were used by McArthur to illustrate his interesting presentation of facts on the distances traveled by birds in flight from Lake county to sections of the southern states, Mexico and Central America for the winter.

Crow migrations were among the most interesting to his audience.

The crows you see around here in the winter are not necessarily the same ones you see in the summer, McArthur told his listeners. It seems the Illinois crows just move a little further south in the winter, while those from Wisconsin and Canada drop down here for a respite during the chillier months. That's why hunters can bang away at the dusky visitors all winter—and find more crows than ever around in the spring, when the Canadian crows move out and the Illinois ones come home to roost.

Clabaugh Again Heads Lake Shore Educational Society

R. E. Clabaugh, who served as president of the Lake Shore division of the Illinois Education association, was re-elected at a meeting of district representatives held Saturday in the Sherman hotel, Chicago. All other officers were also re-elected.

Clabaugh, who is principal of Antioch Grade school, will act as representative of the division and will head a delegation of 10 members to the annual convention of the National Education association in Boston, Mass., from June 29 to July 5.

The Lake Shore division includes all of Lake county and the northern part of Cook county.

Future Farmers Honor Duncan at Annual Banquet

Present Certificate of Recognition to Noted Sheep Breeder

One hundred and twenty fathers and sons were present at the eighteenth annual Father-Son banquet sponsored by the Future Farmers chapter of Antioch High school, Tuesday evening at the school.

Donald Kirkpatrick, Chicago, legal counsel for the Illinois Agricultural association and for the American Farm bureau in Chicago, spoke on "A Challenge to American Agriculture."

Kirkpatrick discussed the significance of the economic situation with regard to the war in Europe and the ways in which it may be expected to affect the farmers in this country.

William Duncan, famous sheep breeder and showman formerly associated with the Marrebar Farms at Libertyville, and now conducting his own place near Millburn, was honored at the banquet. The annual Future Farmer certificate of recognition for outstanding services to agriculture was presented to him at this time.

Richard Hartnell, president of the Antioch Future Farmers chapter, gave the address of welcome to the fathers present. The response on behalf of the fathers was given by Bert Edwards.

Talks included one by Wayne Drom in which he described a hog-raising project he had carried out this year, and one on "American Youth and Its Relationship to the National Defense Program" by William Dow. Cowboy songs with guitar and mandolin accompaniment were presented by Clarence and Edward Dunford in costume, and James Jones gave vocal solos.

There will be eight busses daily, four to and four from Waukegan. As in the past, they will make stops at or near many of the resorts and subdivisions in the lakes area.

The bus service will continue throughout the summer, and there is a possibility that, should passenger traffic warrant the service, it may be continued into the fall and even the winter.

Antioch High Qualifies for State Tourney

Receives "A" Rating in District Drama Contest at Springfield

Antioch Township High school players qualified for participation in the Illinois state drama festival as a result of the fine showing they made in the district contest at Calumet City last Saturday. Their play was "So Wonderful" (In White).

Among the schools against which Antioch had to compete to earn the coveted "A" rating were Proviso Township High and others with outstanding records in the drama fields.

Takes Individual Honors
Catherine Quigley won third place for Antioch in the verse speaking competition, failing by only one point to take second place. Thornton took second in this event, and La Grange first.

The cast of "So Wonderful" (In White), coached by Mrs. Marguerite K. Phillips, includes Roberta Selzer as Margaret Shipman, a nurse; Vivian Cosgrove as a narcotic addict whose suicide brings the story of the play to its climax; and Carol Waters as a young girl entering on a nursing career.

Others who will travel to the state drama contest Saturday, April 26, are Joyce Anderson as Miss Cresson, the hospital superintendent; Virjean Hook as Gail Stevens, a graduate nurse; Mary Kay Lynn as Ginny Brash; Jeanne Mack as Eleanor DeWitt; Sybil Johnson as Bushelman, and Mildred Dow as Frankel.

Mrs. Phillips has expressed herself as being highly pleased with the showing made by the Antioch students, particularly in view of the fact that all of the high schools against whom they competed have from 500 to 2,000 or more students from whom to choose their drama representatives.

Von Holwede Is Rehired by Board In Stormy Session

Prin. J. O. Austin Given New Contract; Over 100 Attend Meeting

Hans Von Holwede, teacher of music and German in the Antioch Township High school, last night was given another year's contract by the local board of education. The vote was three for and two against his re-employment. President A. Mapletorpe, Mrs. Helen Osmond, board secretary, and Walter Hills voted for granting the new contract, and James McMillen and Paul Chase opposed it.

A gallery of about 125 spectators, headed by former board members, crowded the assembly room to hear the proceedings, and there was no doubt that the sympathies of the crowd were with the teacher whose qualifications have been under fire.

Von Holwede's salary, which heretofore has been $2,325.00, was left open and will be decided upon by the board at a later meeting. Meanwhile during the controversy over the teacher's qualifications among some of the board of education members, the state board of examiners, and County Superintendent Petty, the teacher was rehired to teach music in the Antioch Grade school at a meeting of that board Friday night. His annual salary in the elementary school was set at $450.

Charges Intimidation
McMillen requested that his objection to taking a vote on Von Holwede's contract under the circumstances which he stated amounted to "an attempt at intimidation of board members," be included in the minutes. He stated he did not object to the use of the word "railroaded."

Former board members present, some of whom were serving when Von Holwede was given his original contract in 1929, included F. O. Hawkins, George White, former president, and Clarence Crowley, who retired in 1938 after nine years' service. White and Mrs. Osmond were defeated in 1939 by McMillen and Paul Chase. Mrs. Osmond, however, regained her place on the board the following year.

President Mapletorpe, upon calling the meeting to order, asked if any one in the audience wished to be heard. Former board member F. O. Hawkins said he was there upon invitation and (continued on page 8)

Music Festival Sketches To Be Given in Costume

Stephen Foster songs will be presented in costume by Antioch grade school children in the school's annual music festival, to be presented in the Antioch High School auditorium Friday evening.

Earl Hieber will be seen as "Old Black Joe" and Presly Bratrude as Stephen Foster. A group of the children in costume will dance to the music of "Oh, Susannah!"

In the sketch from "Tom Sawyer" that will be another special feature Benny Drury will take the part of Tom and Jane Nelson that of Aunt Polly.

Accordian band numbers are expected to be another "extra-special" highlight in the program.

Children of the grade school are now conducting a ticket-selling contest in preparation for the festival. Prizes will be awarded to the winners. Tickets for the program, which will commence at 8 o'clock, will also be available at the door.

Miss Ruth Williams Dies Here After Extended Illness

Remembered for Brilliant Red Cross Work During World War

Grieved for by her relatives and the many friends she had won by her kind personality and her courage in facing a long, tragic illness, Miss Ruth E. Williams passed away at her home here Sunday morning.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Strang funeral home, with the Rev. S. E. Pollock officiating. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

Born in Antioch Feb. 21, 1888, she was the youngest daughter of the late Daniel A. Williams and Addie H. Williams, prominent residents of Antioch in the earlier days.

She was a sister of the late Laura A. Dupre of Delavan, Wis.

Miss Williams was prominent in Red Cross activities in the east during the first World war, and is still remembered for her brilliant organization work.

G. C. C. Worker at Fox Lake Struck by Auto, Killed

An inquest into the death of James L. Armstrong, 43, a CCC worker at the Fox Lake camp, was held Wednesday afternoon in the Smith funeral home at Fox Lake.

Armstrong was killed Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock when he was struck by an automobile as he was walking along Highway 12 north of the village of Fox Lake.

Allen Pierce, 21, of Spring Grove, driver of the car, stated that he swerved to avoid hitting Armstrong, but that the latter moved in the same direction. Armstrong was hit by the left front fender of the car and then fell against the left front door, his head breaking the window glass. Pierce suffered cuts from the broken glass.

Survivors of Armstrong include a sister, Mrs. A. G. Robb, Chicago.

Illimitable Income

TO LIVE within their income appears to present a difficult problem to many people. In numerous cases, the supply seems to be insufficient to meet even legitimate needs, and the ceaseless struggle to make ends meet and to keep out of debt robs human experience of its rightful measure of harmony and happiness. Such a state of affairs ought never to be submitted to unquestioningly, whatever the circumstances.

Nowhere in the Scriptures do we find authority for believing that God's will for His children is limitation and lack. On the contrary, we find that whenever men have humbly and trustfully turned to God for help, they have triumphantly come out of their troubles, no matter how hopeless the situation had appeared to be. God's love for His children has undergone no change. He is eternally our Father, and all may turn to Him in absolute confidence that He will answer their call for help, for did not the Master, speaking of the Christ, Truth, promise (John 14:13), "Whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son?"

Someone may say, I have asked God, most earnestly and for a long time, to bring me out of my financial difficulties, and I have received no answer. The asking which meets with no response is not prayer based on the spiritual understanding of God and of man's relationship to Him. A state of insufficient income arises from the mistaken belief that man is material, and that matter is substance. . . .

Paul declared to the Athenians (Acts 17:28), "In him we live, and move, and have our being." Referring to Christ Jesus' words (John 10:30), "I and my Father are one," Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, writes on page 361 of her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," "As a drop of water is one with the ocean, a ray of light one with the sun, even so God and man, Father and son, are one in being." Such inseparability of Parent and child can be truly conceived of only as that of infinite Mind and infinite idea. . . .

The coming of spiritual ideas to human consciousness is illimitable, for God, divine Mind, is ceaselessly pouring forth His treasures of spiritual thought to sustain, support, and satisfy His children. The real man possesses true substance by reflection, for Mind, substance, is eternally present and knows no limitation or insufficiency. The application of these grand spiritual truths in human affairs should not be thought strange. The strange thing is that men have so unquestioningly accepted evil as a powerful, controlling factor in human experience. . . .

Let all those who suffer the strain and stress of belief in insufficient income, lift thought above anxious human planning and contriving, and let them turn their thoughts in a new direction. Let them ask God for childlike trust and receptivity, for calmness and courage, for an overflowing sense of gratitude and love, for wisdom and the clear spiritual vision which distinguishes between the real and the unreal. Then let them wait with confident expectancy, and the answer will come, even as it did in the father's sweet assurance to the elder brother of the prodigal son (Luke 15:31), "Son, thou art ever with me, and all that I have is thine."

All that God has is ours by reflection, and He is infinite Mind, divine Love. When the material income seems inadequate to meet the daily demands, let us remember that God alone is the source of supply. We must love God, good, above all else, acknowledge no substance or intelligence but divine Mind, and strive to reflect the divine nature and character in every detail of daily living. When the spiritual fact is seen and understood, unlimited good flows into human experience, and the false beliefs which have seemed to control us loosen their hold and fall away.

To the listening ear come spiritual intuitions, divine aspirations, holy thoughts of joy and gladness, and the wisdom to use the new-found good. The more one uses spiritual ideas, the more they multiply and abound. Thus one finds all his human needs supplied, and so proves the truth of Mrs. Eddy's words (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 307): "God gives you His spiritual ideas, and in turn, they give you daily supplies. Never ask for tomorrow; it is enough that divine Love is an ever-present help; and if you wait, never doubting, you will have all you need every moment."—The Christian Science Monitor.

FRIENDS SURPRISE

MRS. PULLEN ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. David Pullen was the victim of a pleasant surprise at her home in Zion Tuesday evening when a number of friends staged the event in honor of her birthday. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Wells, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Savage, Mort Savage, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Hollenbeck, Millburn; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pullen and children of Kenosha; and Mr. and Mrs. Don Anderson and children of Antioch.

The company made it rather a joint celebration when it was learned that Mr. Hollenbeck's birthday was on Monday, April 14.

Mrs. Eva Barnstable is recovering from a fall at her home last Saturday, when she sustained a cut near her eye. Several stitches had to be taken to close the wound.

Phyllis and Sigrid Diane, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Einar Petersen, were christened at the Antioch Methodist church Sunday.

Miss Dorothy Lyne of the Antioch High school teaching staff has been seriously ill at her home for the past several days with influenza.

Among winter vacationists returning to Antioch during the past week were Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Anderson, from Melbourne, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brinkman from California.

Stricken with an attack of appendicitis, necessitating an operation immediately after his return to the University of Illinois after spending the Easter vacation here with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Save 3, Lose 1 as Fishing Boats Capsize

To the alertness of Sam Smith, caretaker at the C. K. Anderson estate, and the prompt and heroic efforts of members of the Antioch rescue squad is given much of the credit for saving the lives of three of four fishermen whose boats capsized in the rough waves of Channel lake Sunday morning.

By a heart-breakingly narrow margin, the squad failed to save the life of the fourth fisherman, Kenneth E. Olin, 23, of 3829 Fremont avenue, Chicago. Olin drowned after James McMillen of the squad had succeeded, at the risk of his own life, in getting a life preserver to him and had begun towing him in to shore by means of a rope fastened to the life preserver. He is believed either to have suffered a cramp or become numb after long exposure in the icy water and to have loosened his hold on the life preserver, or to have become confused and started swimming away from McMillen.

Because of the intensity with which the spray was being driven into his face (the waves were estimated to be running from six to eight feet high in the lake, and breaking into spray from 12 to 20 feet high along the sea wall), McMillen had gone some distance before he knew Olin had slipped under the surface. McMillen himself had difficulty reaching a point where his rescue squad companions could aid him to shore.

He and the three rescued men were taken to the C. K. Anderson home, where Mr. and Mrs. Anderson gave all possible assistance to the rescue squad and to Dr. D. N. Deering, who had been summoned to the scene, in (continued on page 5)

Otto S. Klass is Re-Elected Head of Antioch Civic Club

McArthur, Bird Migration Authority, Speaks at Meeting

All officers of the Antioch Men's Civic club, including Otto S. Klass, president; Russell Barnstable, vice-president; Edward Strang, treasurer, and R. E. Claubaugh, secretary, were unanimously re-elected for another year at a meeting Monday evening in St. Ignatius' Guild hall.

Harold E. McArthur, Waukegan, who has devoted years of study to bird migrations and the practice of bird banding for such study, was the speaker of the evening.

Pictures were used by McArthur to illustrate his interesting presentation of facts on the distances traveled by birds in flight from Lake county to sections of the southern states, Mexico and Central America for the winter.

Crow migrations were among the most interesting to his audience.

The crows you see around here in the winter are not necessarily the same ones you see in the summer, McArthur told his listeners. It seems the Illinois crows just move a little further south in the winter, while those from Wisconsin and Canada drop down here for a respite during the chillier months. That's why hunters can bag away at the dusky visitors all winter—and find more crows than ever around in the spring, when the Canadian crows move out and the Illinois ones come home to roost.

Future Farmers Honor Duncan at Annual Banquet

Present Certificate of Recognition to Noted Sheep Breeder

One hundred and twenty fathers and sons were present at the eighteenth annual Father-Son banquet sponsored by the Future Farmers chapter of Antioch High school, Tuesday evening at the school.

Donald Kirkpatrick, Chicago, legal counsel for the Illinois Agricultural association and for the American Farm bureau in Chicago, spoke on "A Challenge to American Agriculture."

Kirkpatrick discussed the significance of the economic situation with regard to the war in Europe and the ways in which it may be expected to affect the farmers in this country.

William Duncan, famous sheep breeder and showman formerly associated with the Marzbar Farms at Libertyville, and now conducting his own place near Millburn, was honored at the banquet. The annual Future Farmer certificate of recognition for outstanding services to agriculture was presented to him at this time.

Richard Hartnell, president of the Antioch Future Farmers chapter, gave the address of welcome to the fathers present. The response on behalf of the fathers was given by Bert Edwards.

Talks included one by Wayne Drom in which he described a hog-raising project he had carried out this year, and one on "American Youth and Its Relationship to the National Defense Program" by William Dow. Cowboy songs with guitar and mandolin accompaniment were presented by Clarence and Edward Dunford in costume, and James Jones gave vocal solos.

Antioch High Qualifies for State Tourney

Receives "A" Rating in District Drama Contest at Springfield

Antioch Township High school players qualified for participation in the Illinois state drama festival as a result of the fine showing they made in the district contest at Calumet City last Saturday. Their play was "So Wonderful! (In White)".

Among the schools against which Antioch had to compete to earn the coveted "A" rating were Proviso Township High and others with outstanding records in the drama fields.

Takes Individual Honors Catherine Quigley won third place for Antioch in the verse speaking competition, failing by only one point to take second place. Thornton took second in this event, and La Grange first.

The cast of "So Wonderful! (In White)," coached by Mrs. Marguerite K. Phillips, includes Roberta Selter as Margaret Shipman, a nurse; Vivian Cosgrove as a narcotic addict whose suicide brings the story of the play to its climax; and Carol Waters as a young girl entering on a nursing career.

Others who will travel to the state drama contest Saturday, April 26, are Joyce Anderson as Miss Cresson, the hospital superintendent; Virjean Hook as Gail Stevens, a graduate nurse; Mary Kay Lynn as Ginny Brash; Jeanne Mack as Eleanor DeWitt; Sybil Johnson as Bushelman, and Mildred Dow as Frankel.

Mrs. Phillips has expressed herself as being highly pleased with the showing made by the Antioch students, particularly in view of the fact that all of the high schools against whom they competed have from 500 to 2,000 or more students from whom to choose their drama representatives.

Von Holwede Is Rehired by Board In Stormy Session

Prin. J. O. Austin Given New Contract; Over 100 Attend Meeting

Hans Von Holwede, teacher of music and German in the Antioch Township High school, last night was given another year's contract by the local board of education. The vote was three for and two against his re-employment. President A. Maplethorpe, Mrs. Helen Osmond, board secretary, and Walter Hills voted for granting the new contract, and James McMillen and Paul Chase opposed it.

A gallery of about 125 spectators, headed by former board members, crowded the assembly room to hear the proceedings, and there was no doubt that the sympathies of the crowd were with the teacher whose qualifications have been under fire.

Von Holwede's salary, which heretofore has been $2,325.00, was left open and will be decided upon by the board at a later meeting. Meanwhile during the controversy over the teacher's qualifications among some of the board of education members, the state board of examiners, and County Superintendent Petty, the teacher was rehired to teach music in the Antioch Grade school at a meeting of that board Friday night. His annual salary in the elementary school was set at $450.

Charges Intimidation McMillen requested that his objection to taking a vote on Von Holwede's contract under the circumstances which he stated amounted to "an attempt at intimidation of board members," be included in the minutes. He stated he did not object to the use of the word "railroaded."

Former board members present, some of whom were serving when Von Holwede was given his original contract in 1929, included F. O. Hawkins, George White, former president, and Clarence Crowley, who retired in 1938 after nine years' service. White and Mrs. Osmond were defeated in 1939 by McMillen and Paul Chase. Mrs. Osmond, however, regained her place on the board the following year.

President Maplethorpe, upon calling the meeting to order, asked if any one in the audience wished to be heard. Former board member F. O. Hawkins said he was there upon invitation and (continued on page 8)

Miss Ruth Williams Dies Here After Extended Illness

Remembered for Brilliant Red Cross Work During World War

Grieved by her relatives and the many friends she had won by her kind personality and her courage in facing a long, tragic illness, Miss Ruth E. Williams passed away at her home here Sunday morning.

Born in Antioch Feb. 21, 1888, she was the youngest daughter of the late Daniel A. Williams and Addie H. Williams, prominent residents of Antioch in the earlier days.

She was a sister of the late Laura A. Dupre of Delavan, Wis.

Setting New Records

Americans still have a love of the sea in their blood, and the sight of the big North Carolina, mightiest battleship afloat, sliding gracefully down the ways was a thrilling one for most of us. It was an exciting chapter in a continuing story of America's progress towards building up its defenses.

The North Carolina, it has been estimated, was finished nearly five months ahead of schedule. Into that achievement went very special effort on the part of individuals in many plants throughout the land who were providing parts for the mighty armored leviathan. They were free men, working in plants that were widely separated, but they were all working together to help prove that free men can build better than can men driven by whips and threats.

The North Carolina is big, but not big enough to obscure other parts of the defense progress narrative. Not so long ago, the destroyer Edison was completed in a private shipyard, far ahead of schedule. In this country, where the production of the equipment for our defense program depends upon private enterprise—which means individual initiative, ingenuity, and enthusiasm—we can depend upon surprising records every step of the way. Take what the President said at a recent press conference, as reported by the New York Times.

"The President said at his press conference . . . that Navy schedules of the time necessary to build new destroyers had been cut from more than 20 to 10 months."

On the sea as well as on the land, a system of free private enterprise is proving that it brings out the best and the most efficient qualities in individuals. American industry, having been asked to "achieve the imposble," is contributing tremendously to that proof. The mere fact that so much has been asked of it by those heading up the defense program helps to show that industry doesn't recognize, in its "bright lexicon" or anywhere else, that there are such words as "can't be done." It just rolls up its sleeves and does its share—and then suddenly the public discovers that the job is done in record time!

The "First Drowning"—A Warning!

It is with sadness, and with the hope that similar tragedies will not recur this season, that Antioch and vicinity recorded the first drowning of the season—the death of 23-year-old Kenneth E. Olin of Chicago at Channel lake Sunday morning.

The Antioch rescue squad once more proved its worth on this occasion by reviving Olin's companions and giving them first aid—and two of its members very nearly succeeded in saving him also, at the imminent risk of their own lives. As in the past, whole-hearted co-operation was given by nearby residents and by a resort owner and a physician called upon for aid.

Because its members came within so close a margin of preventing it, the rescue squad is particularly cast down over this drowning tragedy.

However, it is believed there is no better time to call to the attention of all—visitors and native residents alike—the need for a certain amount of caution in swimming or boating upon the lakes.

It is often remarked that one practically never hears of a "native" drowning around the lakes. This is believed partly due to the fact that they know the waters; partly because they are careful—visitors often take chances which a native never would—and partly because they know what to do in an emergency and do not get excited.

So, visitors, while you enjoy the fascinating outdoor life of the delightful "vacation playground" around the lakes, please, for our peace of mind and your safety—BE CAREFUL!

Resort owners will co-operate with advice wherever they can; the Antioch rescue squad is on call at all hours to furnish emergency aid. You can do your part just by being careful.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

S. S. Lesson for April 27

THE EARLY CHURCH MEETING HUMAN NEEDS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 4:32-35; 6:1-7.
GOLDEN TEXT—And the multitude of them that believed were of one heart and of one soul.—Acts 4:32.

Machinery without power is useless—that is why in the lesson of last Sunday the power of the Holy Spirit was recognized as being indispensable in the church. One sometimes wonders whether we do not now have more machinery than power, and thus fail in our high calling.

Power, on the other hand, reaches its greatest usefulness through the organization of well-planned machinery. The church soon found that its activities, simple at the beginning, had become more complex, calling for suitable organization, if it was to best serve the needs of its own people and of those round about it. In so organizing they did not forget this fundamental purpose of the church, nor did they forsake the true source of power.

I. Sharing With the Brethren (4:32-35).

Love for one another prompted the Christian brethren to meet each other's need by sharing, by holding all they owned for the common good. This was not (as some would have us believe) a type of communism. It was purely voluntary (see Acts 5:4), temporary, and local. It was practiced only in Jerusalem and only for a short time. It was an expression of Christian brotherhood and liberality which is worthy of our consideration.

The duty and privilege of sharing material as well as spiritual blessings is a part of Christian fellowship. Those in the church who have should willingly share with those who have not. Some churches have so effectively carried out this plan today that none of their members is on relief. Not every church can do that, but much more could be done if we had the considerate spirit of the early Christian church, which was indeed the spirit of Christ.

II. Caring for the Unfortunate (6:1, 3, 5, 6).

The church had come through its first real persecution (Acts 5:12-42) with real victory and assurance (5:42), only to face an internal difficulty. Wherever the Lord blesses, the enemy comes to destroy. Whenever a door of service opens, there are many adversaries (1 Cor. 16:9).

There were two groups in the church—the Hebrew Christians, and those with a Greek background. Among the poor to whom daily distribution of help must be made were many widows. Suddenly the Grecian group began to note (or think they noted, which was just as disturbing) that their widows were being neglected.

Notice that men of good character and spirituality were chosen to serve, and that all of them bore Greek names. The Greeks, who were doubtless in the minority in the Jerusalem church, had a complaint, so those who were appointed to serve were their own people. We might have been tempted to appoint a committee made up of half from each side (and thus to continue the dissension), but not so here where grace and wisdom from above controlled.

Do not fail to observe that there was here a well-ordered plan to care for the weak and unfortunate. No Christian church should fail in that important ministry.

III. Preaching the Word (vv. 2, 4, 7).

Social service is necessary—the church should make intelligent provision for its poor and its widows—but it makes a fatal mistake when such service becomes more important than the preaching and teaching of God's Word. Let those appointed to that blessed ministry find joy in sanctified social service, but never let it pre-empt the place of evangelism.

Certainly such service must not become the all-absorbing task of the one who has been set by God as the messenger to the church—the spiritual shepherd of the flock. Many a preacher has lost himself in such work, and failed to study and pray so that he might be prepared to preach the Word in power and with conviction. Too many preachers are attempting to shake a sermon out of their coat sleeves on Saturday night (as Joseph Parker put it) only to find that their ministry grows leaner and leaner until, reaching the years when there should be a matured richness and sweetness in their ministry of the Word, they find their message dead, dull and dry.

Such folly ill befits the Christian church of its ministers. Perhaps some minister who reads these lines should change his ways, and perchance many a church officer who reads them should realize that he has been driving his preacher into work which, while important, should be (for him, at least) secondary. First things first, in God's own order—that is the road of power and blessing.

HORSE POWER

HARD-WORKING horses use up a lot of muscle, body flesh and mineral salts. Since grain is short in body-building proteins and minerals, your horses can't get enough from grain alone to hold up in flesh and staying power when they're working heavy.

We have a feeding service that helps overcome this difficulty. You bring in your grain, we grind it, and mix in Purina Omolene Supplement, a proven grain-balancing concentrate that goes a long way toward keeping your horses in condition and right up in the collar every working day. See us.

No Clothespin
on this Car's Nose!

Buick SPECIAL 6-passenger Sedanet, $1006. White sidewall tires extra.

WOULDN'T a sprinter or a long-distance runner look silly trying to race with a clothespin firmly clamped on his nose!

Yet, in a sense, something fairly close to that happens in nearly every car that lacks Buick's sensational Compound Carburetion.

For your engine has to breathe in huge quantities of air to be mixed with gasoline before it is burned in the cylinders.

But single-carburetor fuel supply systems can handle only a given volume of air.

To that extent, then, an ordinary engine has a clothespin on its nose—a limitation on air supply for big power operation.

(Optional equipment on the Buick SPECIAL, standard on all other models.)

We remove that clothespin very simply—by having two carburetors; one that handles all casual driving smoothly and efficiently, another to jump in with more air and more fuel when you call for extra power by stepping on the gas treadle!

Simple? Very simple indeed.

And simply marvelous in the extra FIREBALL wallop it gives you and in the gas savings you get—as much as 10% to 15% over previous Buicks with the same-size engines.

Maybe you'd better go see your Buick dealer now.

MRS. MATTHESEN ATTENDS 33RD BAHAI CONVENTION

Mrs. A. F. Mathisen of Bristol is in Wilmette this week-end attending the thirty-third annual convention of the Bahai's of the United States and Canada. The convention opened this morning (Thursday, April 24) and is being held in the Foundation hall of the Bahai House of Worship. Bahai centers all over the United States, the Hawaiian Islands and Canada are to be represented by delegates and visiting Bahai's.

To the Bahai's this convention comes at a time when the American nation is assuming an expanding influence and leadership in the affairs of the whole world, a course forecast for it by 'Abdu'l-Bahai, son of the Founder of the Bahai Faith. This convention comes too, at a time when the Bahai's of the United States and Canada are able to record substantial progress in carrying their Faith to the Republics of Central and South America. Through their travels and teaching they are able, this year, to measure the birth of a new age of unity and understanding between countries and peoples of the Americas, north and south.

Bahai's are sharing their nation's great destiny by promulgating the universal teachings for the spiritual unity of the human race, its nations, religions and races. The ultimate destiny of their country, they believe, will be to play an active and decisive part in the organization and peaceful settlement of the affairs of mankind. Bahai's are facing the world chaos of today fortified with the belief that out of this present-day world of chaos the flower of a future divine civilization is now budding.

The election of nine members to the National Spiritual Assembly of the United States and Canada will be held at mid-point of the convention.

The convention will close Sunday evening with a public meeting at 8 o'clock. The speakers will be Albert Winchell, chairman of the Chicago Bahai assembly, and Dorothy Baker, of Lima, Ohio, vice-chairman of the National Bahai assembly. The subject will be "The Great Fulfillment."

Library Receives 3 Stanwood Cobb Books on Education

Residents of Antioch and its environs who on March 29 heard Stanwood Cobb, noted educator and child psychologist, speak on "Educating for a Better World" will be interested to learn that he has presented three of his books to the Antioch Public Library. They are "The New Leaven," "New Horizons for the Child" and "Character: A Sequence in Spiritual Psychology."

The first edition of "The New Leaven" was published in April 1928 and deals with progressive education and its effect upon the Child and Society. However, Dr. Cobb admitted in his Antioch lecture that he had himself learned many new ideas in progressive education since this book was written. Thus, in May 1934 the first edition of a later book "New Horizons for the Child" was released. This book shows how to bring out the best in the child—how to develop his special abilities to their fullest extent. It adds both parent and teacher in the difficult problem of giving to the child at once a free and disciplined personality. "Education in the light of modern psychology can mean only one thing," says Dr. Cobb, "the development of the individual child up to the capacity of its talents and abilities." Ward Shepard, in speaking of this book said: "New Horizons for the Child" cannot fail to help both parent and teacher in the difficult and fascinating problem of giving to the child at once a free and disciplined personality. Stanwood Cobb is a master in human personality and in the technique of the humanized and dynamic art of progressive education." Jessica Childs of the Frank Training School says: "Dr. Cobb not only faces squarely the defects of progressive education, but offers definite suggestions for remedial measures to overcome them."

The third book on "Character" offers not only inspiration for self-perfection, but also a clarified vision of what character is and how to achieve it. "Character is destiny. For deeds flow from character, and our deeds create our destiny," says Dr. Cobb.

PASTURE GRASSES LIKE SOUP, DAIRY FEED EXPERT SAYS

Water Content So High That
Even a Large Amount Goes But Short Way.

"Because pasture grasses contain so little solid matter and so much water, they are something like soup," says D. H. Van Pelt, dairy feeding expert with the Ralston Purina Company.

"When a cow eats 60 pounds of fresh grass, she actually consumes six gallons of water and approximately 11½ pounds of digestible dry matter," he explains. Van Pelt uses 60 pounds of grass as his basis for figuring since this is the amount of grass the average cow gathers and digests on good pasture in 24 hours. "On scanty pasture," he asserts, "it is doubtful whether a cow would be able to graze half of that."

Pasture Alone Not Enough
Research shows that the average milking cow must obtain about 8 pounds of digestible dry matter from her ration daily to maintain her body weight. Obtaining 11½ pounds of digestible dry matter from grass leaves her only 3½ pounds of dry matter for the production of milk. This means that if she is to maintain her body, all she can make from this amount of dry matter is 12 pounds of milk daily—three quarts to a milking.

"So if a cow is producing 35 pounds of 4 percent milk daily, and she is getting grass alone, she must do either one of two things," according to Van Pelt. "If she's inclined to be beefy, she'll favor her body, and milk production will drop. If she's inclined to be a good milker, she'll neglect her body to keep the milk pail full. But no matter how 'willing' she may be, the milking cow can't go on filling the pail many weeks on just pasture alone."

What to Feed With Pasture
Here's Van Pelt's solution. He says that at the Purina Experimental Farm, Gray Summit, Mo., they have developed for the grain raising dairy farmer, a special mixed grain ration formula to be fed to cows on pasture. It consists of 300 pounds of ground ear corn, 200 pounds of coarse ground oats, and 200 pounds of Purina 34½ Cow Chow. He says that equally suitable rations for farmers who do not raise corn and oats have also been developed by this farm. To obtain these rations, Van Pelt recommends seeing the local Purina dealer.

"On lush pastures," Van Pelt explains, "these rations are fed at the rate of one pound for every six pounds of milk produced by Jerseys and Guernseys; for Holsteins and Ayrshires, one pound for every eight pounds of milk."

As the season advances and grass loses more and more of its stimulation, Van Pelt recommends that the amount of these rations for cows on pasture be increased just enough to maintain production.

"When pastures become burned and dried up," says Van Pelt, "something succulent must be fed along with these rations to hold up production. For this purpose he recommends the feeding of one gallon of Purina Bulky-Las, morning and evening. He says Bulky-Las is very palatable, laxative, inexpensive to feed, and supplies many of the nutrients that dried up pastures lack."

The Observer

There's something hovering over the village. That certain restlessness, that indefinable stir, that lurking anticipation, that first rumbling of preparation that means summer isn't far off, and that the local stores, resorts and so on are getting ready to welcome the influx of summer visitors.

We see in our ramblings around the village where Dan Scott has had a new ceiling put in at the Antioch Shoe Repair shop.

Andy Dalgaard has had a new glass-front refrigerator counter installed in his grocery store. . . . your classy looking . . . should be, for about $600, which Andy says it set him back.

Bob King reports everybody had an enjoyable time at the Rexall sale staged by King's drug store last Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and that business was good. . . . Folks seemed to appreciate the fine bargains offered.

Business folks of Antioch and environs are urged to be on their guard against counterfeit $5 bills being circulated in Chicago and northward along the lake shore. The serial number 1934-A is one of the identifying marks on the spurious bills.

Seems that some time last year our valued friend C. F. Richards loaned a heavy wire stretcher for woven wire fence to a friend of his. Now Charley wants to use it himself and can't just remember for sure who he loaned it to. . . . and will the kind friend return it? . . . so he (Charley) can tend to his fences. . . . not the political ones, but the practical kind. . . . Thanks!

There are times when, after observing the vagaries of the human race, we are reluctantly obliged to admit that maybe Barnum WAS right.

Find Seven "Perfect Children" in Round-up

Seven of the eighteen children examined in the "summer round-up" at Antioch Grade school Monday were reported "perfect" from a health standpoint.

Recommendations by the examining physician and examining dentist included attention for teeth in seven cases; four for tonsils; three, for adenoids; two for small pox vaccinations; two for sight trouble; two for nutritional care and four for posture.

It is expected that most, if not all, of the children will rate "perfect" by the time school starts in the fall, as excellent co-operation is given by parents in having corrections made during the summer months, when they will not interfere with school work.

In addition to the children from Antioch Grade school, three pre-school children from the Grass Lake district were examined.

Dr. R. D. Williams was the examining physician and Dr. E. J. Lutterman the examining dentist. Mrs. Elaine Wharton, county nurse, was present. The committee in charge for the Parent-Teacher association, which sponsors the round-up each year, included Mrs. Roy Kufalk as round-up chairman, Mrs. Jos. Patrovsky, president, Mrs. Henry Reutter and Mrs. Earl Pitman.

Save 3 From Lake....

administering treatment for cold and exhaustion.

Recover Body

Olin's body was recovered about half an hour after he sank, and was taken aboard Ray Pregoner's ocean-going motor launch, Oh My, VII, which Pregoner rushed to the scene from Grass Lake in response to a call from Fire Chief James Stearns. (The Oh My, the only boat around capable of weathering the rough water, is the same vessel that aided in the spectacular rescue of several marooned duck hunters during a violent storm last November.)

Olin is believed by rescue squad members to have literally drowned while on the surface, strangled by water swallowed while he gasped for breath. A large quantity of water was drained from his stomach and lungs by rescue squad men who worked over him in a vain last hope of reviving him after the body had been recovered.

Olin is survived by his wife and a small child, and another child was expected soon.

Tried to Help Others

According to his companions, he put himself in danger and lost his life when he attempted to assist two of the others. He and one of the men, who were his uncle, Carl T. Wetzel, and Oliver and Ralph Berg, all of Chicago, had reached safety when they observed that the other two were having difficulty in getting to the shore. When he rowed out into the lake again to aid the others, both boats were swamped.

Two of the men succeeded in clinging to a boat until it was swept toward the shore, while Olin, clinging to a boat cushion, attempted to swim for it. McMillen and Second Lieutenant Herman Rosing of the squad, which arrived at the scene as he was still struggling some distance out in the water, began battling their way through the waves and spray to reach him. When McMillen succeeded in arriving without about 15 feet of the youth he flung him a life preserver, to which the now frantic Olin clung as McMillen began swimming back to shore, towing it at the end of a rope. Aware, after he had fought his way through the waves for some distance, that the drag on the rope had lightened, he looked back to discover that Olin was gone, and was himself too exhausted to make a return trip to search for him.

He was dragged from the water in a state of collapse as he neared shore and was rushed to the Anderson home, where he was put to bed for several hours to recover from the effects of exposure to cold and from swallowing a considerable quantity of lake water.

The other three men, one of whom was in a critical condition, had meanwhile been revived and were being dressed in warm clothing supplied by Anderson from his own wardrobe.

The four Chicagoans had reached Antioch for fishing at Channel lake around 6 a. m. Sunday. According to the story told by the survivors, the lake did not seem dangerously rough when they rented boats at Smith's resort on the south side of the lake. This part of the lake, however, is somewhat protected by a peninsula.

As they proceeded north into the lake, however, intending to fish near Oetting's channel, their boats were tossed about by the heavy waves. They capsized about 1,000 feet offshore, between the Cermak estate and the Anderson place.

Smith, who was going to the Anderson residence from his own home, to attend to the furnaces, sighted the men and immediately notified Anderson, who put in a call for the rescue squad. Smith had meantime hurried down to the sea wall along the shore to give what assistance he could in saving the men. This was around 7:45 o'clock, and the men were believed to have already been in the water some time, as Wetzel's watch was stopped at 7:20.

Olin's watch stopped at 9:07, and he apparently drowned at 9.

Because of the dangerous roughness of the water, Pregoner did not attempt to return to his resort by way of the lakes after the body was recovered, but docked his boat at Brinkman's, on Channel lake.

Squadmen who answered the call, with the Antioch rescue truck and emergency paraphernalia, included Holbek, Rosing, McMillen, R. F. Allner, Clarence Shultis, John Horan and Walter I. Scott.

DRY FEED IS CHEAPER FOR RAISING CALVES THAN MILK

200 GAL. MILK... or 4 BAGS CALF STARTENA + 25 GAL. MILK

How many miles does the dairyman walk in a year lugging milk to his calves and going back with the empty pails? How many hours a year does he spend washing calves' buckets? And how much is the milk worth that he feeds to each calf?

The answer to each of these questions will surprise the average dairyman. The answer to the first depends on mileage made each trip. The answer to the second depends on the man and the equipment he has for washing buckets. The answer to the third depends on the price of milk—but it does take 200 gallons of milk to grow a milk-fed Holstein calf to sixteen weeks.

According to E. B. Pratt, dairy specialist with the Ralston Purina Company, an easier and cheaper way to raise calves is on dry feed.

The plan which he outlines calls for letting a calf suck for the first three days. For the next four days, the calf is given a quart of milk night and morning, plus all the Purina Calf Startena she will eat. The latter is a commercially prepared dry feed rich in the nutrients a growing calf needs.

During the second week, the calf receives two quarts of milk morning and night along with all the hay, water, and Calf Startena she will eat. During the third week, the amount of milk is increased to two and one-half quarts night and morning. But during the fourth week the amount is reduced to only one and one-half quarts per feeding, and at the end of the week, is discontinued entirely.

"Calves do much better when dry feed and water are in front of them so they can nibble at them through the day," Pratt explains. "Many dairymen prefer timothy or mixed hay to alfalfa or vine hays because calves sometimes over-eat on these latter days and get scours."

Pratt says that it is considerably cheaper to raise a calf on the dry feed method; the amount of saving naturally depending upon the selling price of milk. He explains that on the usual milk method of feeding, approximately 200 gallons of milk are needed to raise a Holstein heifer to four months. On the dry feed method, only 25 gallons of milk and four bags of Calf Startena are needed. One bag of the latter replaces approximately 40 gallons of milk.

Nazi Drive Cuts Deep Into Greece As Yugoslavia's Army Is Smashed; London Blasted With 'Worst' Raids In Reprisal for Attacks on Berlin

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union)

William Knudsen, Defense Commission chief, who has announced that auto manufacturers will curtail production 20% to speed defense work is shown as he inspected a shipyard at Quincy, Mass. He told workmen that: "Time is the thing."

BALKAN: Catastrophe

Before the Nazis' Balkan campaign had been under way two weeks it was apparent that another major catastrophe for Hitler's enemies was in the making, but how extensive or how catastrophic none was prepared to say.

After eleven days of fighting, Berlin reported that Yugoslavia's army of some 1,200,000 men had capitulated and laid down their fighting equipment which had proved relatively ineffective against the highly mechanized Nazi legions.

London announced bad news too with the report that it had been subjected to the worst air blitz "of all time." German sources say this terrific raid came as a reprisal for British raids on "cultural and non-military" objectives in Berlin.

In the very beginning of the Balkan campaign, the Nazi-Italian forces took the offensive in Northern Africa, and the two battles proceeded almost in unison, the British being driven practically out of Libya by the time that the British sources were ready to admit that Yugoslavia had been defeated.

Reaction of the British people was bitter, not that they were unwilling to receive news of a defeat that had been more or less expected, but because the ministry of information and the intelligence department were accused of having fallen down on the job.

This also was the reaction in Washington, where it was freely said by those in the military know that the British permitted Roosevelt to promise aid to Yugoslavia and Greece when it should have been known that aid to the former was to be only a gesture, and that the Serbs and Slovenes could not hope to stand up to the attack more than a week or two.

Washington sources of high military information frankly said that the British intelligence had fallen down, as it had in the Battle of France, and that the best information in our national capital had been to the effect that the infiltration of Nazi mechanized forces into North Africa had been of the smallest.

These sources said they had been told that this shipping of tanks and men to North Africa had had only one purpose—that of putting pressure on the French colonies, and forcing them to stand firm with the Vichy government.

Whether this was deliberate self-delusion, or an attempt to delude the American and British people was not known, but certainly it was bad information, whether deliberate or not.

For in about two weeks the British had lost everything they had gained in Libya, and found themselves seriously on the defensive as far as the vital Mediterranean port of Alexandria and the equally vital Suez canal were concerned.

Highlights

... in the news

BELFAST: Observers were wondering what stand, if any, Eire would take in the face of the first serious bombing of northern Ireland. This city and surrounding towns were hard hit by a blitzkrieg from the air and there were many casualties.

WASHINGTON: Danish Minister Henrik De Kauffman made the Greenland agreement with this government, and then was fired, but he is still recognized by the U. S. The same happened to French Vice Consul Paul Bibily, who, claiming he was the sole "real" representative of France in the U. S., offered this country the use of bases in North Africa.

CHUNGKING: China, despite the recent Japanese-Russian accord, has been advised that Russian aid to China in its fight against Japan will be continued.

GREECE: On Her Heels

The Greek armies, which had checkmated the unaided Italian forces presented against them in the Albanian campaign, found themselves facing a horse of another color when the Nazi hordes moved in from Bulgaria and south from Yugoslavia.

Greek sources in the United States, many of them intensely patriotic and hoping against hope for a Greek victory, had been saying during the Albanian battle that if the Nazis ever got in, Greece could not hope to hold out a month.

How true these predictions were in their essence began to be seen as the Nazi campaign against northern Greece proceeded. Salonika fell, trapping much of the Greek army in Eastern Macedonia and Thrace. Then the Germans broke through into the Struma river valley, through the Monastir gap and made contact with the Italians in northern Albania.

It was not long before the plan of the Graeco-British forces to defend a line running in an inverted V-shape from Adriatic to Aegean seas had to be revised, and the whole hinge of the V, in the Lake Ochrida-Phlorina sector had to be abandoned, and the armies retreat until the line was more nearly straight.

Along this line a frightfully intense battle started, and few were sanguine enough to believe that the line would hold and further retreat and withdrawal not be necessary, particularly as the line, as first drawn, lay over heavy mountain ranges with peaks up to 6,000 feet.

And the Nazis had broken through these, and the fighting in its secondary phase was on terrain more to the liking of the mechanized units.

LABOR: And Defense

The strike situation showed some further amelioration, with the announcement by Bethlehem Steel that about 90,000 of its workers would get a 10-cent-an-hour increase in wages.

This, for the moment, relieved the public of the anxiety lest a strike hit this steel-producer, holder of more defense contracts than any other one concern in the country, and one of the nation's largest builders of merchant ships.

The coal strike, however, continued to cause trouble, with four more killed near Harlan, Ky., at a mine which was continuing to operate despite the general shut down.

Negotiations for the ending of this strike were in their final phase, with every evidence that the agreement would go through and that soft coal strikes would be over for another two years, if not longer.

Those watching the labor situation felt that the soft-coal agreement would pave the way for better general industrial conditions and that promised strike threats against U. S. Steel and General Motors might not materialize.

The settling of the Ford strike was held up as a shining example of handling what looked like a certain impasse.

Yet there were still moves afoot in congress which would not exactly outlaw strikes, but which would provide for a 30-day "cooling off period" before the actual calling of a walkout, and also calling for official recognition of the Dykstra-headed national mediation board.

SHOTS: And Spies

The shooting to death of Editor John F. Arena of an Italian language newspaper in Chicago was tabbed as a Fascist secret police slaying after it was learned that a few hours before he was shot he had furnished information to the Dies committee.

A Chicago newspaper man who had talked with Arena a few hours before he was murdered beside his automobile, quoted the editor as saying that he had received threats against his life.

'Barracutey'

It's fishing time again. And Evelyn Dinsmoor, Long Beach, Calif., winner of many fishing contests is shown above proudly displaying her prize-winning catch of Barracuda. Deep sea anglers report that early runs of fish are better than they have been for years due to warmer air currents.

THE GERMAN: Plan

Long range views of the eventual German plan in the Balkans as given to the house of commons by Churchill, and as figured out by observers in neutral points like Ankara and Berno centered on one general line, with certain individual ramifications.

Once Greece had been defeated, said these sources, and the kingdom subjugated much after the pattern of Norway, France and the Low Countries, then the Nazi forces, flushed with victory, would turn their full attention to the Battle of the Mediterranean.

In this observers saw the North African campaign and the Balkan campaign as a huge pincers movement, aimed at the Suez canal and points between.

The recent overturn in the government of Iraq, frankly said to have been engineered in Berlin, provided a back-log of soil turned back of Turkey and Syria.

The Nazis would then, it was said, turn their attention to Turkey and Syria, aiming at the oil in Iran and Iraq, and the wheat-fields of southern Russia.

These would be mere by-products permitting a fuller supply source for the eventual campaign against Suez. In the meantime it was the plan, these observers said, for the Italo-German drive against Egypt to continue, and to meet the southward-pushing Nazis at that point.

STIMSON: And Knox

The growing seriousness of the crisis as far as the United States was concerned brought grave statements in congressional committees from Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Knox.

Stimson, warning of the gravity of the situation, told congress that men now in uniform would have to be trained not only for service in the United States, but also in all parts of Central and South America, if need be, and "also in other parts of the world."

There were many who believed that the secretary was not talking about the Philippines and Greenland, but was pointing to the eventual likelihood of another A. E. F.

On the same day Knox, addressing another committee, said that the day was past when we could consider ourselves as unmenaced, and declared that "America was being encircled by unfriendly countries."

The American people, meanwhile, had to guess at the amount of lease-lend aid that was actually getting over the ocean. No facts or figures were being given out, and yet on the surface, judging by reports from various ports along the Atlantic seaboard, British-bound merchandise was showing a tendency to pile up, and the action regarding Danish and other seized vessels was still being talked about in Washington.

LOWER: Draft Age?

The selective service act, popularly known as the draft, may be amended by this congress to include lads of 18, and also lower the top limit from 35 to some lesser age.

President Roosevelt told newspaper men that changing age limits was under study now in draft circles in congress, and that the matter may be taken up formally early in June.

Army sources also revealed that the war department has modified its ban against men with criminal records. From now on the induction authorities will consider each of the cases on its merits, and will be permitted to pass for possible military service those whom it considers desirable to train.

Trainees also have been given five more days in which to report for induction after receiving an order to do so, and this 10-day period can be extended to 60 days or more by order of the local board, where a hardship might otherwise result.

Von Holwede.....

that he thought he bespoke the sentiment of the community in recommending the granting of a contract to Mr. Von Holwede, and dispensing with the services of Coach R. H. Childers. Other speakers included former board president, George White, County Superintendent of Schools Petty, and several volunteers, but the principal arguments were between Supt. Petty and McMillen.

Report on Rating Delayed

The verbal conflict centered about the teacher's transcripts of credits which have been involved and which have been through the state board of examiners' office at Springfield and have also been evaluated by the U. S. Office of Education. McMillen's authority for his stand in the matter is contained in a letter to Mr. Petty from the secretary of the state board of examiners, C. H. Engle, who stated that "for our own protection it would be better for Mr. Von Holwede to return his certificate so that we may remove German as one of the subjects named on the special certificate." Although the evaluation of credits had been requested last November, McMillen said, the response was not received until March 12. He wanted to know why the delay and who had "froneted" for Von Holwede in the matter. The letter follows:

March 12, 1941

Mr. W. C. Petty
Co. Supt. of Schools
Waukegan, Illinois
Dear Mr. Petty:

As a result of many requests from Antioch I have submitted Mr. Hans Von Holwede's certificate of credits from Germany to the United States Office of Education for translation and their evaluation.

I am enclosing a copy of their translation. You will note on the evaluation that he was given credit for seven units of high school credit and thirty-five semester hours of advanced standing. You will further note that he only has eight semester hours of German according to this interpretation.

This case has been somewhat embarrassing both to you and to me. However, since carefully considering all of the facts I believe for our protection it would be better for Mr. Von Holwede to return his certificate so that we may remove German as one of the subjects named on the special certificate.

Yours very truly,
C. H. Engle,
Secretary.

Supt. Petty said that the U. S. office of education has no authority in Illinois, and the letter from the state examining board had little significance. The letter, recalling the certificate for correction, Petty said, was an "easy out" for the state board in a bad situation which had been brought about through "local pressure."

Charges and counter charges flow thick and fast at times during the stormy session. At one point McMillen challenged White's reference regarding fitness to serve on the board of education. White then qualified his statement, declaring that he objected to the "ladies used in the controversy."

Many prominent citizens who have been interested in the matter solely from the viewpoint of the welfare of the school and the insuring of adequate instruction for its students, have expressed regret that irrelevant personal issues should have been allowed to obscure legitimate and necessary investigations, such as are conducted by most schools as a matter of routine.

The real matter at stake, they point out, is whether or not the students are being instructed by a legitimately qualified instructor who can really teach them the subjects they are studying, or whether they are merely "making time" in an acreable fashion.

It is to the tax payer's interests, they point out, to make sure that he and the school receive legitimate instruction values in return for legitimate salary values.

Urge Harmony

It has been pointed out, too, that the school was created and exists for the education of the student body—not for the personal aggrandizement of any board member or as a means of livelihood for any member of the faculty.

Wise counsel was heard in the words of Principal Austin, who urged that every disturbing factor be eliminated in the interest of promoting harmonious administration in the school.

It is the school board's duty to see that these values are safeguarded for both school and taxpayer, they point out, and not to be obliged to arbitrate as to whether one faction or another will impose its will upon the community at large.

It has also been commented by many that the uproar caused by the introduction of personal elements into the investigations has provoked an evil situation, in which Principal J. O. Austin, an efficient educator, and the students and general teaching staff were "caught in the middle" and were considerably handicapped in carrying on the regular school work in a manner that might be regarded as satisfactory.

Ninety four and nine-tenths of the population of the United States are citizens, either native born or naturalized.

Lose to Northbrook

The Sequoits' elation over their early spring victory was short-lived, for on Tuesday they were defeated by the strong Northbrook team, 13 to 3.

The defeat, however, does not discourage Coach George Ergang, who believes he has the making of a local team that will make a good showing in the conference schedule.

IT COSTS 18c TO FEED EACH HEN PER MONTH, GEORGIA FIGURES SHOW

Only Laying Hens are Able to Pay Their Share of the Feed Bill.

Poultry raisers who have never figured their costs will be amazed at the "Progress Report for July of the 14th Georgia National Egg Laying Test" which shows that it costs approximately 18c to feed a hen during a single month.

Because of this comparatively high cost of keeping a hen, it is extremely important to get as many eggs as possible during the months of September, October, November and December when egg prices are at their peak, reminds C. S. Johnson, head of the poultry department, Purina Mills.

Unless special attention is given the flock during the fall and early winter months, not enough eggs will be produced to pay expenses, let alone a profit, he says. Left to herself, a hen won't start to lay until she gets the "spring urge." Often that isn't until February and March, when eggs are plentiful and prices drop.

"It's pretty expensive putting 18c worth of feed into a hen each month during the fall and winter just to have her around for a few eggs in the spring and summer," Johnson maintains. "It's the hens that lay in the fall and winter that make the largest profits. When a hen isn't laying eggs, she isn't paying for her keep, let alone making a profit."

Editor's note: How to get winter eggs is explained in Purina Mills' latest poultry bulletin, obtainable without charge from our local Checkerboard feed dealer.

THE PROOF OF LAST WEEK'S AD.

SHAMROCK IS NOT FOUND ONLY IN IRELAND. There is no plant known as shamrock which is peculiar to Ireland. White clover, known in various sections of Ireland as Shamrock, grows abundantly in the United States. The name of Shamrock is most commonly given to one of the hop clovers, widely diffused over Ireland but not peculiar only to it.
